

Claire Cahoon is a Research & Writing Attorney with the Federal Public Defender for the Northern District of Ohio, where she represents indigent criminal defendants in trial, on appeal, and in habeas and postconviction litigation. She also represents several detainees held at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba in their habeas cases. Ms. Cahoon is one of less than thirty attorneys in the state of Ohio certified by the Ohio State Bar Association as an appellate law specialist. She also serves as an adjunct professor at Cleveland-Marshall College of Law where she teaches Advanced Brief Writing. Before joining the Federal Defender, Ms. Cahoon was an associate with several civil law firms in Cleveland. She began her career with the Ohio Public Defender in their Appeals and Postconviction group. Ms. Cahoon holds a JD from Capital University Law School and a BA from Otterbein University. She is a member of the board of directors of Equality Toledo and formerly served on the board for the LGBT Center of Cleveland.