

LORI A. GREEN is Chief of the Defender Services Office Training Division. Prior to taking on her new role in 2015, Lori was an Attorney-Advisor with the Training Division for ten years. She was an attorney in private practice in the New Orleans area and a member of the C.J.A. panel from 1999 to 2004. In addition, Lori was a federal prosecutor in New Orleans and Washington, D.C. for approximately nine years. Lori began her legal career at large law firms in San Francisco and Washington, D.C. She has been an instructor of Trial Advocacy at Tulane Law School and with several other women criminal defense lawyers, Lori participated in a weekly New Orleans cable access program advising the community of their legal rights. She is a graduate of Mount Holyoke College and Yale Law School.